

Miss Nettie Blackmore, Minneapolis, tells how any young woman may be permanently cured of monthly pains by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"YOUNG WOMEN:—I had frequent headaches of a severe nature, dark spots before my eyes, and at my menstrual periods I suffered untold agony. A member of the lodge advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I only scorned good advice and felt that my case was hopeless, but she kept at me until I bought a bottle and started taking it. I soon had the best reason in the world to change my opinion of the medicine, as each day my health improved, and finally I was entirely without pain at my menstruation periods. I am most grateful."—NETTIE BLACKMORE, 28 Central Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Painful Periods

are quickly and permanently overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The above letter is only one of hundreds of thousands which prove this statement to be a fact. Menstruation is a severe strain on a woman's vitality,—if it is painful something is wrong. Don't take narcotics to deaden the pain, but remove the cause—perhaps it is caused by irregularity or womb displacements, or the development of a tumor. Whatever it is, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is guaranteed to cure it.

If there is anything about your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. She can surely help you, for no person in America can speak from a wider experience in treating female ills. She has helped hundreds of thousands of women back to health. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice is free. You are very foolish if you do not accept her kind invitation.

Details of Another Case.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Ignorance and carelessness is the cause of most of the sufferings of women. I believe that if we properly understood the laws of health we would all be well, but if the sick women only knew the truth about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, they would be saved much suffering and would soon be cured.

"I used it for five months for a local difficulty which had troubled me for years, and for which I had spent hundreds of dollars in the vain endeavor to rectify. My life forces were being sapped, and I was daily losing my vitality.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me completely, and I am now enjoying the best of health, and am most grateful, and only too pleased to endorse such a great remedy."—MISS JENNIE L. EDWARDS, 604 H St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women.

STRIKE DRAGS ON

FALL RIVER MILLS HAVE NOT YET OPENED.

Strikers Will Not Yield Although Winter Starts Them in the Face—Many of the Mills Closed Are Drawing Insurance From the Strike Fund of the Employers' Association and it is More Profitable to Remain Closed and Get Insurance Money Than to Run at Small Margin of Profit.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 14.—The strike shows no signs of either a break among operatives or an attempt to bring on a break through concerted action by manufacturers.

After the failure of yesterday's conference to bring about a settlement some mill men said publicly that the way for the mills to end the strike is to reopen the gates and see if the non-unionist element will not dominate the situation by accepting work.

The only reason this has not already been done is the fear of disturbances. The labor union secretaries say they see no prospect of the operatives desiring to work under the reduced scale and the manufacturers say there will be no other scale offered, but at the same time both sides give indications of hedging.

One mill manager said today that he would open his mill next week, and if the operatives did not desire work every mill in the city would be closed for a month. It is known that the executive committee does not want any individual mill to start up, but there is a reason why some mills should start, which is herewith given publicly for the first time.

Most of the corporations whose mills are idle on account of the operatives' strike are being reimbursed by the Arkwright club of Boston, an organization made up of New England mills.

The actual expenses of the mills while they are closed are being paid. But there are some mills here not covered in this way.

Their managers, after having stood a loss of nearly $15,000 on account of the strike, think it is time to see if the operatives will not accept the new scale.

The mills that are insured against strikes are in no hurry to start, because business conditions are such that there is no profit, and it costs less to remain closed on account of the strike insurance they receive.

It is estimated that the loss in wages and profits now amounts to $6,000,000. The strikers are still receiving aid from the Central Labor bodies and great discontent prevails. The long New England winter is upon them and three months of idleness has depleted treasuries and consumed savings until the prospect is gloomy in the extreme.

CITY BENEATH A CITY.

Underground Arcade in New York Its Beginning.

New York, Oct. 14.—There is talk of constructing an underground arcade along Twenty-third street, from the subway station to Fifth avenue and Broadway, with shops on each side.

Not a few New Yorkers believe that the opening of the subway will prove to be the beginning of the construction of what will ultimately be a new city beneath the present one.

It is a store with large plate glass windows, which has been built underground in connection with the Mercantile building, at Twenty-third street and Fourth avenue, adjoining the Twenty-third street subway station, but on a little higher level than the platform of the station.

There seems to be good prospects that the subway will eventually lead to the creation of an underground business district in the heart of the city.

PAPAL JUBILEE.

All the Countries of the Earth Will Be Represented.

Rome, Oct. 14.—There will be great doings in Rome in November and December for the celebration of another Jubilee of the Immaculate Conception and the holding of a "Marian Congress," at which all countries will be represented.

This congress will be held in the vast Church of the Twelve Apostles, and in the halls of the Cancellaria and the Roman Seminary.

There will also be a Marian Exposition, which will occupy the eight large halls on the first floor of the Lateran palace. But the great event of the jubilee will be the papal mass in St. Peter's on December 8, and the solemn crowning by Pius X. of the mosaic picture of "Our Lady" in the choir chapel. On December 8, 1854, immediately after the mass, in which the Dogma of the Immaculate Conception was defined, Pius IX set a rich crown on this image, but the new crown is vastly more precious. It consists of 12 large stars, formed of hundreds of precious stones, and united by an aureole of solid gold.

Either during the function in St. Peter's, or on the same day in the Vatican, in the presence of the pope, Perosi's new cantata will be sung, and in the evening there will be a general illumination of the houses of Rome.

ANTI-PNEUMONIA.

New York City Appropriates $10,000 To Fight It.

New York, Oct. 14.—The special commission of the bacteriologists which will make a study of pneumonia for the department of health and endeavor to formulate measures which will curtail the alarming spread of the disease, will hold its first session next week. The city has provided $10,000 to pay for the investigation.

A great deal of laboratory work will be necessary, much of which will be done in the expensive laboratories of the department, under the direction of experts. The department is compiling statistics showing the spread of the disease, which will be laid before the commission at its first meeting.

The medical profession of America and abroad will await the result of this investigation with great interest.

THEY EXPLAIN

The Brock & McComas Co. Tell What They Know.

A BOSTON PAPER INVESTIGATES THE MERITS OF VINOL.

A Subject That is Agitating the Whole Country.

(From the Boston Herald.)

There has reached us rumors of a new discovery. Something that will revolutionize the practice of medicine. A remedy that has given sufferers from wasting diseases hopes of renewed health and prolonged life.

Of enough importance have these stories appeared that a special interview with the Brock & McComas Co. of Pendleton, who interested themselves in this new preparation which is called Vinol, was thought advisable.

Our reporter had no difficulty in finding the Brock & McComas Co.'s place of business. The first man he met said: "Oh, yes, the Brock & McComas Co. is the firm who have the wonderful new remedy that will cure everything that people always thought cod liver oil would help," and he was speedily directed to the Brock & McComas Co.'s establishment. The Brock & McComas Co. are business from the word go, but rather objected to the fame of this preparation being spread abroad as a discovery.

"Why," said the Brock & McComas Co., "this is no more a new discovery than was the moon when it was first viewed through a telescope. The discovery existed simply in the fact of finding out a means of getting at the truth we were after. Perhaps the method might be considered a discovery, but what we have found has been known for years, and it is nothing more nor less than the valuable medicinal properties that have always existed in the cod's liver, and for which cod liver oil has been prescribed by so many physicians. You see, it is just this way. Cod liver oil (perhaps you have taken it yourself) is something that is very valuable in all sorts of wasting diseases, and in itself is extremely disagreeable. Why I firmly believe that a great many cases of consumption, even, could be cured if it were possible for the patient to take enough cod liver oil to let its virtues become manifest. For those who have a tendency to sore throat, bronchitis, coughs, colds, for every one of an anemic disposition, it has always been considered as simply invaluable; and yet it has more often been necessary to abandon its use than it has been possible to devise a way of administering it.

Two eminent French chemists started in and got interested in the matter, and after years of study they have succeeded in extracting from the liver of the cod just what is necessary, and have left behind that obnoxious, greasy, vile-tasting fatty matter, the thought of which even has turned the stomachs of thousands. That is all over now. We have just the thing at last. We have found a way of getting the kernel out of the nut.

This Vinol that is so much talked about is just exactly that. It is the concentrated essence of medicine found in the cod's liver that does the good. The grease is like the shell of the nut, absolutely useless, only it is different from the shell of the nut because besides being useless it is extremely obnoxious and disagreeable to sight, taste and smell.

We have now taken this extract and put a sufficient quantity of it in a delicious tasting table wine. We have also added a small amount of organic iron. This heightens the tonic effect of the wine. The extract of the cod's liver comes in just the right proportion to do the greatest amount of good. "Here, drink this," said Mr. Brock, as he reached for a bottle and poured forth what appeared to be, and which smelled like a delicious, rich wine.

The reporter hesitated. The thought of cod's liver, or anything to do with them, brought back memories of the past, when he himself had made heroic struggles to take that awful medicine. "Go ahead and drink it," said Mr. Brock. The reporter did so and looked up. "Yes, I know, but that is all right. I thought you were going to give me some of that Vinol you were talking about, and did not know that it was your custom to treat a man interviewing you, to a drink like that."

Mr. Brock laughed. "Well, that is Vinol that you have taken. Now you know that part of what I have told you is true. It did not taste bad, did it?" And he surely did not. "Now," said Mr. Brock, "let me tell you something else. You have just taken, condensed, of the curative principles of the cod's liver what you find in 50 per cent of its volume of cod liver oil. You can therefore take it how much easier it will benefit from it than it would if you took the whole oil. Do you realize that I have obtained a small proportion of the same curative properties of that horrible oil? Tell the story to you?"

"You will have to excuse me, for, as you see, I am interested. Of course I am getting the advantage of the discovery directly connected with the house."

The reporter thanked Mr. Brock for his kindness and left, knowing to himself whether man had to be born on good fortune, or whether good fortune did not come as a matter of luck.
